“The Aim of art is to represent not the outward appearance of things, but their inward significance.”
- ARISTOTLE
The Healing Arts at the Forefront of Medicine

This guide will lead you on a tour of art on six floors of the University of Chicago Medicine’s Center for Care and Discovery. These artworks by local renowned and diverse artists have been collected in partnership with the Healing Arts Program, an organization committed to the restorative power of the arts at the University of Chicago Medicine & Biological Sciences. The donated artwork, such as Michiko Itatani’s imaginative pieces from the Cosmic Theater series, speaks to the human ability to invent and synthesize, and find hope during our greatest challenges.

To learn more about how you can support the Healing Arts Program, go to uchospitals.edu/ccd-art.

Museum Moment

Considered one of the foremost abstract artists in the United States, Sam Gilliam says Museum Moment is “a celebration of art” inspired by the first commission he created for the Smithsonian in 1987.

Artworks are part of the Center for Care and Discovery collection

Artwork in Progress

A paper, wood acrylic and Dacron artwork by Jacob Hashimoto is set to be installed at the Center for Care and Discovery in 2014.
